CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Kırkgöz sees children with upper respiratory tract illnesses, which are among the more common reasons for a pediatric visit. His assessment is based on the child's history, the course and duration of symptoms and a clinical examination, and it aims to distinguish self-limiting illness from conditions that may need specific treatment or further evaluation.

A second area of his work is the diagnosis and treatment of pediatric infectious diseases. This involves interpreting symptoms and examination findings in the context of the child's age and general health, deciding whether laboratory or other investigations are needed, and planning treatment on the basis of the likely cause. INTERNATIONAL PATIENTS

Dr. Kırkgöz consults in Turkish and English, and interpreters can be arranged for families who need them. Before a visit, the Acibadem international patient team coordinates the collection of prior reports and imaging, for example laboratory and pathology results, X-ray or ultrasound reports, previous prescriptions and discharge summaries, and arranges appointments and the hospital...
