CLINICAL FOCUS

A large part of Dr. Çıtak's work concerns acutely and critically ill children. His areas of expertise include pediatric advanced life support, respiratory distress syndrome, respiratory failure, sepsis, multiple organ failure and hypoxic-ischemic encephalopathy. He also provides palliative care for children whose condition requires it.

Alongside intensive and emergency care, Dr. Çıtak sees children for general pediatric concerns. These include febrile seizures, PFAPA syndrome, and iron deficiency and anemia in children. He offers well-child monitoring as well as neonatal follow-up and jaundice treatment for newborns.
