CLINICAL FOCUS

A central part of Dr. Şen's practice is the restoration of teeth that have lost part of their structure, whether through decay, wear, or fracture. Depending on the extent of the loss and the condition of the remaining tooth, options may include dental fillings or porcelain inlays and onlays, which are fabricated to fit the prepared tooth...

Dr. Şen works with digital CAD/CAM dentistry, in which restorations are designed and produced with computer-aided methods. This approach can be applied to porcelain inlays and onlays and other restorative work.
