CLINICAL FOCUS

Ali Salcan provides nutrition and diet care and dietary counseling for adults seeking guidance on their eating habits. A dietary assessment usually begins with a review of the patient's medical history, current diet, lifestyle and any relevant laboratory findings, after which an individualized eating plan is discussed.

A further area of his work is sports nutrition, with particular attention to football player nutrition, a field in which he completed dedicated training with the Turkish Football Federation in 2019. This work concerns the nutritional needs of athletes in relation to training load, competition schedules, recovery and body composition. Recommendations are individualized and reviewed as an athlete's training and goals change.
