CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Kaşkaya assesses and treats a range of everyday dental conditions. Tooth root infections are evaluated through clinical examination and a review of any existing dental imaging, so that the source of pain or swelling can be identified and a treatment plan discussed with the patient. Gum diseases are another part of his practice;

His procedural work includes dental fillings to restore teeth affected by decay or damage, tooth extraction when a tooth cannot be preserved or when removal is considered the appropriate option, and teeth whitening for patients who wish to address tooth discoloration.
