CLINICAL FOCUS

Preventive dental care forms a central part of Dr. Ayvat's practice. This area of dentistry is concerned with identifying risk factors for oral disease at an early stage, advising patients on oral hygiene and long-term maintenance, and monitoring the teeth and gums over time so that developing problems can be addressed before they progress.

On the basis of these findings, Dr. Ayvat prepares personalized dental treatment planning for each patient. A treatment plan takes into account the patient's oral health status, personal priorities and previous dental history, and sets out the order in which any recommended steps would be carried out.
