CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Aslan's areas of expertise cover the main diagnostic imaging modalities used in a hospital radiology department. These include X-ray imaging and fluoroscopy, magnetic resonance imaging (MRI), computed tomography (CT) and ultrasound imaging.

He also performs CT-based examinations such as CT colonography, virtual colonoscopy and virtual angiography. These studies use CT data to produce images of the colon or blood vessels, and the radiologist's role is to interpret the findings and report them to the treating team, who then discuss the implications and any further steps with...
