CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Halefoğlu's clinical work centers on the care of patients who require anesthesia, close monitoring or organ support. In intensive care treatment, this involves the assessment and ongoing management of patients whose condition calls for continuous observation and supportive therapy.

He also works in palliative care, which is directed at relieving symptoms and supporting comfort in patients with serious or advanced illness, rather than at curing the underlying disease. His interest in pain management covers the evaluation of patients with acute or persistent pain and the selection of an appropriate approach for the...
