CLINICAL FOCUS

The core of Dr. Barut's work is anesthesiology, the medical care of patients who need anesthesia for surgical or diagnostic procedures. A central part of this is the pre-anesthesia assessment, in which the patient's medical history, current medications, previous experiences with anesthesia and relevant test results are reviewed in order...

Dr. Barut also provides perioperative care, which covers the period before, during and immediately after a procedure. This includes monitoring the patient while anesthesia is administered, managing physiological responses during the operation and overseeing recovery from anesthesia.
