CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Çevik evaluates and treats children with congenital heart diseases, cardiomyopathy, heart failure, heart valve problems and arrhythmias. His diagnostic work includes echocardiography, and he performs cardiac catheterization when invasive assessment or intervention is considered appropriate for a child's condition.

A further part of his practice is fetal echocardiography for prenatal cardiac diagnosis. When a concern about the fetal heart is raised during pregnancy, this assessment may help clarify the situation and inform planning for care around the time of birth.
