CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Yenigün's practice centers on allergic and related conditions in children. She evaluates and manages childhood asthma, food allergies in children and urticaria (hives) in children. Her work also covers allergic and inflammatory skin conditions, including atopic dermatitis, contact dermatitis, seborrheic dermatitis and eczema.

Because allergic disease in childhood often involves more than one organ system, such as the skin, the airways and the digestive tract, her assessment typically considers the child's overall pattern of symptoms rather than a single complaint.
