CLINICAL FOCUS

A central part of Dr. Mammadova's practice is the assessment and medical management of hypertension. This generally involves reviewing the patient's blood pressure history and current medication, looking for factors that may be contributing to elevated readings and agreeing on a treatment plan that can be adjusted over time as results are monitored.

Her work also covers upper respiratory tract conditions. In these cases the focus is on clarifying the likely cause of symptoms, deciding whether further tests are needed and recommending medical treatment where it is appropriate. Across all of these areas, Dr.
