CLINICAL FOCUS

A central part of Dr. Alturfan's work is joint replacement. He performs hip replacement surgery and knee replacement surgery, most often for patients whose joint pain and loss of function are related to osteoarthritis.

His practice also covers sports medicine and sports traumatology, including knee and joint injuries such as anterior cruciate ligament tears and meniscus tears, as well as the treatment of muscle tears. In addition, he treats conditions of the upper and lower limbs through shoulder surgery, elbow surgery, and foot and ankle surgery.
