CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Abbasov's practice covers the general health of children from the newborn period through adolescence. A significant part of his work is preventive: well-child follow-up visits allow growth, development and general health to be reviewed at regular intervals, while newborn follow-up focuses on the early weeks and months of life, when feeding, weight gain and adaptation after...

Among the conditions he evaluates are constipation in children, which is a frequent reason for pediatric consultation and is assessed through the child's history, diet and examination before a management plan is discussed with the family.
