CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Giakoup's clinical interests cover a broad range of emergency presentations. In toxicology, he assesses and manages patients with suspected poisoning or exposure to harmful substances. His work in environmental emergencies includes drowning and acute hypoxia, where rapid recognition and support of breathing and oxygenation are central to care.

Further areas of expertise include burn treatment and trauma care, covering the initial assessment, stabilization and management of patients with burns or injuries of varying severity. Dr. Giakoup also treats bee stings and tick bites, which may range from local reactions to more serious systemic responses that need monitoring and treatment.
