CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Küçükkaya's practice centers on the assessment and medical management of conditions commonly seen in internal medicine. These include hypertension, upper respiratory tract diseases, and the diagnosis and treatment of metabolic disease. She manages obesity with an approach that incorporates clinical nutrition, and she provides thyroid disease treatment within the Thyroid Diseases and Treatment unit.

A further part of her work involves the long-term care of patients with ongoing health conditions, including chronic disease management and geriatric health. She also works in functional medicine, longevity applications and ozone therapy.
