CLINICAL FOCUS

Much of Dr. Özer's practice is concerned with the detection and treatment of dental caries. Assessment usually begins with an oral examination and, where indicated, dental X-rays to identify decay, infection or bone changes that are not visible on inspection. Small to moderate cavities are typically restored with dental fillings.

Dr. Özer also treats gum disease and carries out teeth cleaning and scaling to remove plaque and calculus, which is a routine part of maintaining gum health. She manages tooth sensitivity, which can have several causes and is evaluated on an individual basis, and provides care following dental trauma such as chipped, cracked or displaced teeth.
