CLINICAL FOCUS

The clinical work of Dr. Mercangöz is concentrated on paediatric dentistry. Preventive care forms an important part of her practice and includes fluoride application and fissure sealants, which are used to help protect teeth against decay. She also places space maintainers, which may be used when a primary tooth is lost early in order to preserve room for the permanent tooth that will follow.

Her restorative work includes dental fillings and aesthetic paediatric dentistry. She performs root canal treatment for both primary and permanent teeth and treats dental root infections. Dr. Mercangöz also manages dental trauma, such as injuries to the teeth following falls or accidents, and carries out tooth extraction when a tooth cannot be preserved.
