CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Beyazkılınç's areas of expertise are intensive care, critical care monitoring, and anesthesiology and reanimation. In the intensive care setting, she is involved in the assessment and ongoing management of patients whose condition requires continuous observation, support of vital functions and frequent reassessment.

Her training in anesthesiology and reanimation underpins this approach. Reanimation, in this context, refers to the stabilization and support of patients in life-threatening situations, while anesthesiology covers the management of sedation, pain relief and the maintenance of vital functions during and after procedures.
