CLINICAL FOCUS

The areas of expertise listed for Dr. Orakçioğlu are inpatient care, hospital-based medical evaluation, clinical follow-up and treatment management. Hospital-based medical evaluation refers to the assessment of a patient's history, symptoms, examination findings and available test results while the patient is in the hospital.

For international patients, this means that during a hospital admission Dr. Orakçioğlu is one of the physicians responsible for following their medical condition and for communicating clearly about their hospital treatment. Decisions about diagnosis and treatment are made on an individual basis, and the scope of care depends on the patient's clinical situation and the reason for admission.
