CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Erçin's clinical focus covers aesthetic plastic surgery, reconstructive surgery and the broader field of plastic surgery. Aesthetic plastic surgery addresses concerns about the appearance of a part of the body, while reconstructive surgery aims to restore form or function after injury, disease or prior treatment.

Patients considering aesthetic or reconstructive surgery are typically seen in person before any decision is made. Dr. Erçin reviews the patient's concerns and medical history, examines the area in question and explains which options may be appropriate, along with their limitations and possible risks. Non-surgical alternatives or a decision not to operate may also be part of that discussion.
