CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Beken assesses and manages allergic and immune-related conditions in children. Her focus includes childhood asthma, food allergies in children, urticaria (hives) and immune system disorders in children.

She also treats allergic and inflammatory skin conditions in children, including atopic dermatitis, contact dermatitis and seborrheic dermatitis. Where a food allergy is suspected alongside a skin condition, the evaluation may consider possible links between the two, in line with her published interest in food sensitization in atopic...
