CLINICAL FOCUS

Her areas of expertise are clinical nutrition, dialysis nutrition and gluten-free nutrition. In clinical nutrition, she assesses the nutritional status of patients and prepares dietary plans that take into account the underlying medical condition, current treatment and individual needs.

In gluten-free nutrition, she supports patients who need to follow a gluten-free diet, helping them identify suitable foods, avoid sources of gluten and maintain a balanced intake while doing so. Dietary plans are developed in coordination with the physicians responsible for the patient's overall care, and recommendations are adjusted as the patient's clinical situation and laboratory findings evolve.
