CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Büke's clinical work centers on infectious diseases and clinical microbiology. A particular area of interest is lower respiratory tract infections, including bronchitis and pneumonia. Assessment in these conditions generally involves a review of the patient's history and symptoms, a clinical examination and an evaluation of any...

He also sees patients with sexually transmitted diseases. His background in hospital hygiene and infection control, gained during his work at the Mayo Clinic and at Université Paris IV Bichat-Claude Bernard Hospital, informs his approach to infectious disease assessment and prevention.
