CLINICAL FOCUS

The clinical work of Dr. Güneş centers on two closely related areas: anesthesiology and reanimation care. Anesthesiology concerns the planning and delivery of anesthesia for surgical and other medical procedures, together with the monitoring of the patient before, during and after the procedure.

Reanimation care refers to the management of patients whose vital functions need support, for example after major procedures or during periods of critical illness. In this setting, careful observation and stepwise adjustment of treatment are used to support the patient over time. Dr.
