CLINICAL FOCUS

A central part of Dr. Yıldırım's work is mental health assessment. This involves listening carefully to the patient's account of their difficulties, reviewing their personal and medical history, and considering any previous psychiatric or psychological treatment.

Dr. Yıldırım also has a professional interest in psychotherapy. Psychotherapy is a structured, conversation-based form of treatment in which the patient and clinician work together over a period of time. Whether psychotherapy is suitable, and in what form, depends on the individual assessment and on the patient's own preferences and circumstances. Dr.
