CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Basa's areas of expertise cover the range of emergency interventions encountered in an emergency department. He is involved in trauma care, which typically begins with a structured assessment of injuries, stabilization of vital functions, and coordination of further imaging or specialist input where needed.

A further part of his practice concerns toxicology and environmental emergencies. This includes the evaluation of toxic exposures, the management of bee stings and tick bites, and the care of patients affected by drowning, acute hypoxia, or airway obstruction.
