CLINICAL FOCUS

The core of Dr. Görgülü's practice is breast imaging. This includes mammography, which is used in the screening and diagnostic assessment of the breast, and ultrasonographic imaging, which may be used to characterize findings seen on mammography, to evaluate a palpable lump or other symptom, or as an additional examination when clinically indicated.

Beyond breast imaging, Dr. Görgülü's work in ultrasonographic imaging covers imaging-based evaluation of other clinical concerns as requested by referring clinicians. Radiological findings are described in a clinically focused manner, with attention to what the imaging does and does not show, so that patients and their treating physicians can consider next steps on the basis of the available information.
