CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Çeltik evaluates and manages digestive system diseases in infants, children and adolescents. Common reasons for referral include childhood constipation, childhood reflux, pediatric nutrition disorders and food allergies in children. He assesses celiac disease and lactose intolerance in infants, taking into account growth, feeding history and nutritional status.

Where clinically indicated, he performs pediatric endoscopic examinations to support diagnosis. In addition to his gastroenterology work, Dr. Çeltik provides well-child follow-up and general child and adolescent health care.
