CLINICAL FOCUS

Demet Orhan's work covers two broad groups of patients. The first is people with musculoskeletal conditions, for whom she provides physiotherapy and musculoskeletal rehabilitation. This work is typically built around a physical assessment of movement, strength and function, followed by a program of exercises and physiotherapy techniques that is adjusted as the patient progresses.

Across both groups, her areas of expertise also include mobility rehabilitation and pain rehabilitation. Mobility rehabilitation addresses difficulties with walking, balance, transfers and everyday movement, while pain rehabilitation uses physiotherapy approaches to help patients manage persistent pain and gradually return to daily activities.
