CLINICAL FOCUS

A significant part of Dr. Genç's work concerns reproductive health. She evaluates and treats infertility, including assisted reproductive treatment applications, and manages polycystic ovary syndrome, a condition that can affect both menstrual regularity and fertility. She also provides care related to HPV.

Dr. Genç also treats conditions that commonly arise in later reproductive years and after menopause. These include menopause-related symptoms, bladder health and urinary incontinence, and uterine prolapse. Where surgery is indicated, she performs hysterectomy. Her practice further includes genital aesthetics, such as vaginal tightening and vaginal whitening.
