CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Ok evaluates and manages patients with kidney diseases across a range of presentations. Her areas of expertise include nephrotic syndrome, a condition in which the kidneys leak large amounts of protein into the urine, and kidney failure, in which kidney function declines to a degree that may require supportive treatment.

Her practice also includes diabetes insipidus, a disorder of water balance that leads to the production of large volumes of dilute urine, and the nephrological assessment of patients with kidney cancer, where kidney function is a consideration before, during and after treatment.
