CLINICAL FOCUS

The core of Dr. Candaş's practice is anesthesia care. This involves reviewing a patient's medical history and current condition before a procedure, planning the anesthetic approach with the treating team, and providing anesthesia and monitoring during the procedure itself. The aim is to keep the patient safe and comfortable while the procedure takes place and in the period immediately afterwards.

Her second area of focus is intensive care, which forms part of the broader field of anesthesiology and reanimation. In the intensive care unit, she is involved in the care of patients whose condition requires close monitoring and organ support, for example after major surgery or during a serious illness.
