CLINICAL FOCUS

The core of Dr. Sezen's practice is prosthetic dental treatment. This area of dentistry is concerned with the restoration or replacement of missing, worn or damaged teeth using dental prostheses, with the aim of supporting chewing function, speech and the overall appearance of the mouth.

He also works in restorative dentistry, which addresses teeth that have been affected by decay, wear or other damage. Restorative treatment planning generally begins with an assessment of the affected teeth and the surrounding tissues, followed by a discussion of the options that may be suitable for the patient's situation.
