CLINICAL FOCUS

Anesthesiology and reanimation covers the planning and delivery of anesthesia for surgical and other procedures, the monitoring of patients during those procedures and the management of patients who require intensive or supportive care. Within this field, Dr. Çiçekdağ has a particular interest in palliative care.

Her second area of expertise is advanced life support, which refers to the structured management of patients who are critically ill or whose vital functions are compromised. This includes securing the airway, supporting breathing and circulation, and coordinating with other specialties when a patient's condition changes. As an anesthesiologist working in a reanimation unit, Dr.
