CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Karabük's practice centers on urogynecology, the area of gynecology concerned with the pelvic floor and lower urinary tract in women. Within this field she sees patients with urinary incontinence and other bladder health concerns.

She also cares for women going through menopause. Consultations in this area address menopause-related symptoms and their effect on daily life, and take into account the individual patient's medical history so that options can be weighed carefully. Broader gynecological and obstetric concerns fall within her specialty as well.
