CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Asim's clinical practice covers a broad range of oral and dental health needs. He treats dental caries (tooth decay) and gum disease, performs tooth extractions when a tooth cannot be preserved, and carries out root canal treatment for teeth with infected or inflamed pulp.

In line with his prosthodontic training, a significant part of his work involves restoring and replacing teeth. This includes dental crowns and bridges, complete and partial dentures, and dental implant prosthetics, meaning the crowns, bridges or dentures that are attached to implants once they have integrated with the jawbone.
