CLINICAL FOCUS

A significant part of Dr. Sübay's work concerns diseases of the cornea and lens. He assesses patients with keratoconus, a progressive thinning of the cornea, and with astigmatism, where the shape of the eye affects how light is focused.

Dr. Sübay also follows patients with glaucoma, a condition in which raised eye pressure can damage the optic nerve, and sees children with paediatric eye diseases. His practice further includes blepharitis (inflammation of the eyelids), eyelid twitching (myokymia) and ocular migraine, where visual disturbances are assessed to distinguish...
