CLINICAL FOCUS

A substantial part of Dr. Uzunoğlu's practice is preventive and developmental care. He carries out well-child follow-up visits, in which growth, feeding and general development are reviewed over time, and he provides childhood vaccinations according to the child's age and immunization history.

His clinical interests also include the common infectious and inflammatory conditions of childhood. He evaluates pediatric infectious diseases, upper respiratory tract diseases in children, croup and childhood rash illnesses, and he follows children with PFAPA syndrome, a condition characterized by recurring episodes of fever.
