CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Erken's clinical work centers on inflammatory, autoimmune and systemic rheumatic diseases seen within Internal Medicine. His areas of expertise include rheumatoid arthritis, ankylosing spondylitis, Behçet's disease and familial Mediterranean fever (FMF).

His background in immunology and tissue typing informs his approach to autoimmune disease, and cellular therapies are among his listed areas of expertise. The suitability of any particular treatment depends on the individual diagnosis, disease activity and general health, and is determined after a clinical assessment.
