CLINICAL FOCUS

A significant part of Dr. Erseven's practice is preventive and routine care. Newborn follow-up involves monitoring an infant's feeding, weight gain and early development in the first weeks and months of life. Well-child follow-up continues this process through childhood, with periodic assessment of growth, nutrition and developmental milestones.

Dr. Erseven also evaluates and treats acute childhood illnesses. Childhood upper respiratory tract diseases, such as infections affecting the nose, throat and ears, are a frequent reason for pediatric visits, and he assesses symptoms, examines the child and advises on management.
