CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Aliosman's areas of expertise include trauma care and emergency interventions for patients who arrive with acute injuries. He also provides burn treatment, from the first assessment of the injured area to the early stages of wound care in the emergency setting. Airway obstruction and drowning and acute hypoxia are further areas of focus;

Toxicology is another part of his practice. This involves the evaluation and management of patients with suspected poisoning or exposure to a harmful substance, where identifying the agent involved and monitoring its effects help guide treatment. Dr. Aliosman also manages environmental emergencies, including insect stings and tick bites.
