CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Yıldırım's clinical work centers on minimally invasive, image-guided procedures. Within interventional radiology, this includes transarterial radioembolization (TARE), a catheter-based treatment delivered through the arteries under imaging guidance. Within interventional neuroradiology, his work concerns image-guided procedures involving the blood vessels of the brain.

His published work reflects these areas. Selected publications include a study on the effects of cerebral aneurysm treatment method on coil packing density and its relationship with the ostium area in J Vasc Interv Radiol (2022), a report on higher-dose intra-arterial milrinone and combined milrinone-nimodipine infusion as rescue therapy for refractory cerebral vasospasm in...
