CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Kaya's practice centers on nuclear medicine diagnostic evaluation and nuclear medicine patient assessment. Nuclear medicine uses small amounts of radioactive tracers to produce images that reflect how organs and tissues are functioning, and these findings are interpreted alongside a patient's history, clinical examination and other...

His published research reflects this diagnostic orientation. Papers on which he is an author have appeared in journals including Annals of Nuclear Medicine, Journal of Computer Assisted Tomography, Maturitas, International Orthopaedics and Clinical Toxicology.
