CLINICAL FOCUS

Dt. Aksoy's clinical work covers a broad range of dental conditions and procedures. She treats dental caries and, where the pulp is affected, performs root canal therapy to preserve the natural tooth. She manages gum disease, which may involve professional tooth cleaning and ongoing periodontal care, and she carries out tooth extraction when a tooth cannot reasonably be retained.

Her orthodontic training is reflected in malocclusion assessment and treatment with orthodontic braces. Because malocclusion can affect chewing, oral hygiene and the long-term health of the teeth, orthodontic assessment forms part of her wider approach to oral health. She also interprets dental radiographs, which supports diagnosis and treatment planning across all of these areas.
