CLINICAL FOCUS

In respiratory therapy, Ezgi İrem Eryaşar provides pulmonary rehabilitation and breathing exercises for patients whose breathing capacity or respiratory function is affected. Programmes are built around the individual patient, with exercises and techniques selected according to the underlying condition and adapted as the patient progresses.

In the treatment of pelvic pain, her work centres on pelvic floor physiotherapy and therapeutic exercise programmes intended to ease discomfort and restore function. Each programme is individually tailored, and she takes time to explain each step, adjust exercises to the patient's condition and provide guidance that patients can continue applying after they return home.
