CLINICAL FOCUS

A central part of Fatih Erol's work is the assessment and rehabilitation of pediatric feeding and swallowing disorders. This includes oral motor assessment and therapy based on the Beckman approach, feeding and swallowing rehabilitation, and electrotherapy for feeding and swallowing difficulties in children, for which he has completed VitalStim/DINES training.

He also works in cerebral palsy rehabilitation, including lower-extremity orthotic applications, and in sensory integration therapy following the Ayres approach. Developmental screening is another area of his practice; he is trained in the Denver II developmental screening test, which is used to assess a child's development across several domains.
