CLINICAL FOCUS

Feray Farsak's work concentrates on in vitro fertilization (IVF), reproductive medicine and embryology. As an embryologist, she is responsible for the laboratory stages of an IVF cycle, working in coordination with the clinical team so that the technical steps of treatment follow the plan agreed for each patient.

In addition to her fertility laboratory work, she contributes to the treatment of pelvic pain as part of the hospital's dedicated unit. This work is carried out within a multidisciplinary setting, in which findings and treatment options are discussed jointly with the clinicians responsible for the patient's care.
