CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Yıldız's clinical work covers child and adolescent health across age groups. In the newborn period, this includes newborn follow-up and the assessment and monitoring of newborn jaundice.

Her areas of expertise further include common acute illnesses of childhood, such as upper respiratory tract infections in children and croup, as well as the evaluation of developmental disorders in children. Assessment is adapted to the child's age, and findings and any next steps are discussed with the family.
