CLINICAL FOCUS

Gizem Karaoğlu's areas of expertise cover several conditions in which pain and impaired movement overlap. In the field of pain treatment she works with patients who have facet joint syndrome, a source of spinal pain arising from the small joints of the vertebral column, as well as pelvic pain and functional disorders.

A second part of her work concerns movement disorder treatment and neuromuscular disorders, including restless legs syndrome. Rehabilitation in these conditions is directed at maintaining mobility, strength and independence in everyday tasks, and is planned in coordination with the treating physicians.
